

PRECISION FINANCIAL SERVICES, INC. AMONG “BEST OF BEST”
FINANCIAL ADVISORS
ATTENDING BARRON’S WINNER’S CIRCLE SUMMIT

Exclusive Event Hosts Wealth Management Leaders and Industry Influentials

NEW YORK (October 2, 2006)—Mike Babyak Sr., CEO of Precision Financial Services, Inc. and son, Michael Babyak Jr. II, President, attended the second-annual “Top Advisors Summit” hosted by Barron’s magazine and R.J. Shook, author of “The Winner’s Circle” books rating America’s top financial advisors. The invitation-only conference was held at the Waldorf Astoria from September 27-29 in New York.

In addition to Michael and his father, were 91 of the Top 100 financial advisors in the U.S., as ranked by R.J. Shook and published in Barron’s April 24, 2006 issue. These industry leaders conducted seminars and panels that explored current issues in wealth management – from avoiding the land mines in alternative investment vehicles, to mega trends in the corporate services market, combining non-correlated assets to achieve financial goals, and evolving expectations of high net worth customers.

As one of the few father-son firms recognized, “It was a real honor to be a part of this event, and meet others who share the same integrity and passion for our profession,” Mr. Babyak said. “Discussing best practices one-on-one with the top financial advisors in the country was a unique experience, and I’m excited to bring these insights back to my firm and my clients.”

Also in attendance were nearly 400 financial advisers who were selected by their firms to participate in the event. Firms sending attendees include LPL Financial Services, Deutsche Bank, Merrill Lynch, Morgan Stanley, Royal Alliance Associates, Inc., Smith Barney, and Wachovia Securities, among others.

“Our inaugural Summit last year was an experiment, and a resounding success,” said Ed Finn, editor and president of Barron’s. “Competing firms came together for the first time, for frank discussions and information-sharing, all with the common goal of improving the quality and performance of the financial services industry.”

R.J. Shook noted that, “Scores of Winner’s Circle advisors have told me that once they’ve reached the top of their firms, there are fewer people – oftentimes no one – to share ideas with. For this reason, we’re bringing the ‘best of the best’ together to share ideas and help each other – and the industry as a whole – move to a higher level of performance.”

The Summit was sponsored by the following institutions: AIG Private Client Group, AIM Investments, American Century Investments, American Funds, Barclays iShares, Credit Suisse, Dow Jones Newswires, Franklin Templeton Investments, Frenkel & Co, Inc., The Hartford, IXIS Asset Management Advisors Group, Janus, John Hancock Mutual Funds, Lazard Asset Management, Lord Abbett, MFS Investment Management, Nuveen Investments, the Options Industry Council, Putnam Investments, Vanguard, and Van Kampen Investments.
